The
Ames High Spirit
1951

To those who shared these same halls and classrooms,
Who gave the supreme sacrifice that we might share them too,
We humbly dedicate this "SPIRIT OF 1951."

Ames High

Mr. Harry R. McPhail, superintendent of Ames schools

A new member of the school administration is Mr. Harry R. McPhail, superintendent of schools. Replacing Dr. Steven N. Watkins, who took a similar position in Lincoln, Nebraska, Mr. McPhail serves as coordinator of the nine public schools in Ames. Mr. McPhail has had most of his experience in Iowa schools, coming to Ames from Davenport where he was director of elementary schools in the school system there. The versatile educator is active in various civic groups, including the Rotary club, Masonic lodge, and the Red Cross.

Assisting him in the office are Mrs. Grayce Elliott, secretary to the superintendent; Miss Laura Sayre, secretary to the business manager; and a newcomer to the office, Mrs. Edna Davis, bookkeeper. The business manager, Frank B. Howell, also has his office in the superintendent's section.

The principal's office is the scene of many a student interview, and the gathering place for the speakers on the daily sound system announcements. Here Mr. C. Herbert Adams, principal of Ames High School, spends a busy year, welcoming visitors and new students, interviewing student teachers, dictating letters, and adding the finishing touches to the numerous projects that make Ames High noted for its high standards and ideals.

The knights of the office staff are Miss Beverly Gore, head secretary to Mr. Adams, and Miss Pauline Houk, assistant secretary. These girls conduct all the general office business and supervise the student office workers.

Administration

A number of girls taking business courses help in the general office work during their study periods. These girls who have volunteered their services to collect attendance slips, type letters, and write passes are Marcia Barnard, Mary Jo Highbarger, Pat Harper, Pat Munson, Liz Seaman, Grace Jackman, Jo Imsland, Phyllis Malander, Bonny Bruce, Marilyn Braland, Judy Wilson and Janet Abbott, seniors; Mary Halden, Ramona Berhow and Joyce Warren, juniors; and Janet Williams, sophomore.

Dr. Kenneth E. Piercy again assists in the system's health program. The doctor and the school nurse, Mrs. Ruth Spadero, hold health conferences, distribute medical advice, and give routine physical check-ups.

The Ames Board of Education sets all policies of the school system, hires personnel, handles the budget, and controls the operation of the program. The members of the board are Dr. John D. Taylor, president of the group; Frank E. Adams, N. J. Brintnall, Mrs. T. J. Maney, Prof. L. O. Stewart, Frank B. Howell and Hiram Munn. Mr. Munn is acting treasurer of the board.

Mr. Howell, who has been secretary of the board for 28 years, also acts as business manager. His duties include the purchase of school supplies and the responsibility for the rental of school property; he also supervises school maintenance and is in charge of construction work.

With the necessity for expansion in mind, one new school building will be completed this fall, and another is under construction. The Meeker Elementary School, located on 20th Street, is scheduled to open in September of 1951. Plans have been developed for the construction of a new Franklin School, designed for special education purposes. Major projects are slated for a summer improvement program. The board is constantly studying and selecting new and better materials of instruction.

The David Edwards Elementary School is being built on Woodward Avenue and will be ready for occupancy in September, 1952.

SENIORS

Senior Class

TOP: Mr. Engelland, Holmes, Munson, Barnes, G. Shepherd, John. SECOND: Sutter, M. Martin, Scheuermann, Knutson, Jackman, Hedrick. FRONT: Maney, Moore, S. Brown, Galligan.

The seniors started their busy last year at Ames High with the election of class officers. John Maney was senior class president with Jim Galligan as vice president. Sue Brown was elected secretary and Connie Moore was appointed treasurer.

The presidents of every senior homeroom were automatic members of the senior senate and representatives from each homeroom were also chosen for the senate. The senate met on Thursday noons to transact business.

The class was an active one in sports and Richard Harlan, Bob Spangler, Dick Day, Arthur Barnes, Dick Fowler, Red Milliken, and John Maney received places on conference or state teams as an award for their outstanding action on the gridiron.

Track and basketball were also filled with plenty of senior talent. Bob Brayton was elected basketball captain and John Maney and Dick Fowler track co-captains.

Margot Miller and Gordon Shepherd were two of the drama talented members of the seniors. Both appeared in leading roles in E=Mc² and The Druid Circle. The Druid Circle, the senior class play, was presented April 27 and 28 in the high school auditorium. Members of the cast were Mary Jane Arnold, Bob Spangler, Margot Miller, Gordon Shepherd, Richard Harlan, Joan Stock, Dick Day, Grace Jackman, John Judge, Beverly Scheuermann, Judy Wilson, Marian Martin.

Music was a high spot for many seniors. There were many who received the pin for outstanding work in orchestra and band or in some vocal group.

MEMORIAL CONCERN

The juniors entered their second year at Ames High School and began at once to participate in the many activities awaiting them.

Dick Harris became class president; Dick Peterson took over the office of vice president; Jean Murray was elected secretary, and Shirley Baker, treasurer. Henry Gilman, Don Johnson, Dean James, Nick Piper, and Chuck Holmes completed the membership of the Junior Executive Council which met each Thursday morning under the supervision of John Jarvis, sponsor.

Student Council representatives for the first semester, John Clark, David Smith, Francis Judge, Jerry Kurtz, Ben Barnard, and Dave Varland were replaced at the beginning of the second semester by Catherine Grant, Keith Paulson, Aldor Peterson, Dick Carney, Mike Miller, and Bill Jackson. At the State Student Council Association meeting in the fall Don Webber was elected Representative of the Central Iowa District.

A number of juniors saw action on the grid-iron during Ames High School's perfect season. Letters were awarded to Jim Allen, David Varland, Dick Stuber, Nick Piper, John Clark, Dick Culbertson, Dick Harris, Jack Kruger, Ralph Emerson, Merle Hansen, and John Ahart. The basketball team included nine juniors.

Dramatic interests appeal to a great many of the juniors. And There Were None or Ten Little Indians, a mystery comedy by Agatha Christie, was presented by the junior class on February 22 and 23. Members of the cast were Bob Lee, Mary Lou Wilson, David Walkup, Jim Mullica, Nancy Winslow, Bob Peters, David Taft, Francis Judge, Lyell Henry, Jean Murray, and Jerry Johnson. When $E=mc^2$, the Dramatic club play, was presented in the fall, the cast included Bob Lee, Jerry Johnson and Marcia McGuire in leading roles.

The Junior-Senior Prom climaxed the year. The Prom was held on May 29 in the gymnasium and brought another successful year to its close.

Sophomore Class

The new sophomores began their high school careers by electing officers. Homeroom presidents for the first semester were Joe Molleston, Bill McCallister, Ben Buck, Keith Hayenga, George Allen, and Tom Judge. Dick Green, Sarah Hall, Neva Paulson, Wally Smith, Chuck Gray, and Jim Orth were second term presidents. Dick Green and Frank Wolf were elected Hi-Y vice-president and treasurer, respectively, at the mid-year elections.

In the first sport of the new year, the soph football team finished a rugged schedule with a 3 won 2 lost record. Ben Buck was the only sophomore who played with the varsity squad.

The sophomore basketball squad took third place in its conference, winning 8 and losing 8. Bill Houk, high scorer, and Jim Barger were standouts on a squad which showed a lot of promise for future years.

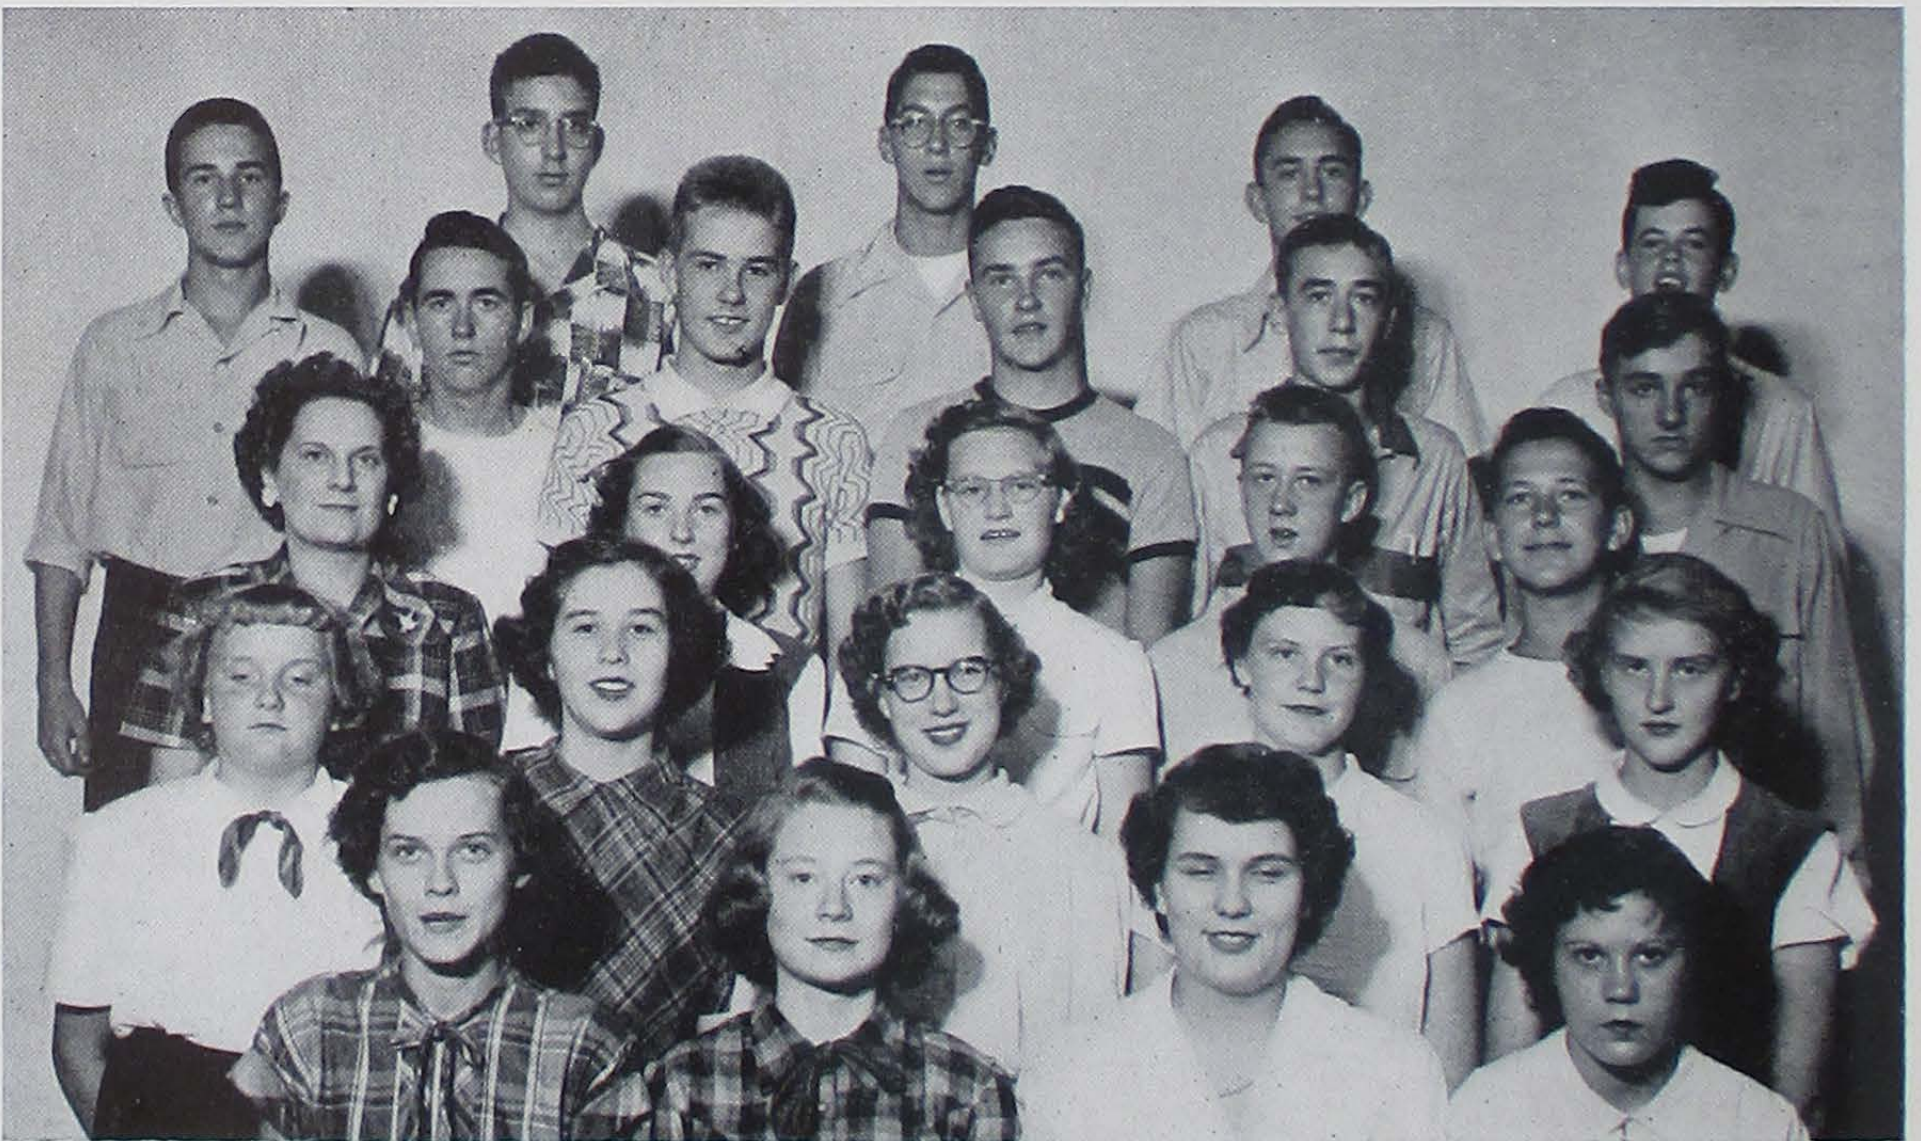

The debate squad had an ample number of sophomores who participated in discussion and tryouts. Keith Hayenga and Kentner Fritz were among the outstanding sophomore debaters.

In the fall drama club play, $E=Mc^2$, the sophomore class was ably represented by Bob Bentley, Don Bradley, and Bill Shepherd.

ATHLETICS

Coach of the Year

Highlighting the 1950 football season and his coaching career was the naming of Kenneth Wells as Iowa's Prep Coach of the Year by the Des Moines Register and Tribune

To the Ames High football fans, the selection came as a surprise to no one. They have long recognized his high character, clean standards, and his outstanding ability to convert light, inexperienced squads into championship teams.

Kenny came to Ames in 1929 as a student at Iowa State College, where he earned eight varsity letters in football, baseball, and track. In 1938 he began coaching at Ames High, and has been here ever since, except for three years with the Navy during the war.

During his 10 years at Ames High, Kenny's

Kenny Wells doing his bookwork in his office football teams have won 66 games, lost only 9, and tied 4. He has coached three unbeaten teams, in 1938, 1942 and 1950, and has won 7 conference championships. The 1950 season was little more than a typical one for the coach of the year. With a team that averaged only 155 pounds, and with only 10 returning lettermen and two regulars, he guided them through a terrific 8-game schedule to a ranking as the third best team in the state.

Football isn't his only sport. In 1948 he was basketball coach and took a so-so Ames High team to the state tournament. Kenny is also regarded as a top-flight track coach, and at present is Ames High's athletic director.

We of Ames High join in congratulating Kenny.

The 1950 Little Cyclone grid team wrote a mighty chapter in Ames High football history by racing unbeaten through a gruelling eight-game schedule. By doing so, the Little Cyclones won their third straight conference championship, retained the "Little Green Jug" for another year, and established themselves as one of the top teams in the state.

Senior letter-winners on the all-victorious squad were Bruce Adams, Art Barnes, Keith Brown, Dick Day, Dick Fowler, Jim Galligan, Richard Harlan, John Nichols, Bob Spangler, and Jack Wilcox.

The 10 returning lettermen are John Ahart, Jim Allen, John Clark, Dick Culbertson, Ralph Emmerson, Merle Hansen, Jim Hicks, Jack Kruger, Nick Piper, Dick Stuber, and Dave Varland. All 57 boys on the squad saw action during the season.

Highlights of the season included: selection of Bob Spangler as captain at the annual football fireside; naming of Kenny Wells as "Prep Coach of the Year" by the Des Moines Register and the Ames Tribune.

AMES 38, MASON CITY 0

A light, unheralded Ames team launched the 1950 season with a crushing 38-0 victory over Mason City. It was Ames' fifth straight win over the vengeful Mohawks. Fowler, Allen, Spangler, Piper, and tackle Jim Hicks scored the touchdowns.

AMES 7, NEWTON 6

A point-after touchdown place kick by Jim Allen in the third quarter was the difference as Ames squeezed by tough and stubborn Newton,

7 to 6. Spangler scored the touchdown which set the stage for the winning boot.

AMES 33, MARSHALLTOWN 13

The "mighty" Bobcats were mere kittens in the face of Ames' lightning speed, rugged line, and sharp defense. Scoring TD's in Ames' third straight victory were Fowler, Allen, Maney, and Galligan.

AMES 20, OSKALOOSA 14

Despite a letdown after 3 tough games, the Little Cyclones posted their fourth straight win over determined Oskaloosa, 20-14. Fowler, Maney and Spangler scored the touchdowns.

AMES 21, WEST WATERLOO 14

Ames avenged its only loss of the previous year by rolling to a brilliant 21-14 victory over the tricky Wahawks. Hard-charging Bob Spangler, who scored 3 TDs and was a defensive standout, let the way to Ames' fifth straight triumph.

AMES 47, GRINNELL 6

Coach Kenny Wells played his reserves most of the game as Ames swept by hopeless Grinnell, 47 to 6, for Ames' sixth straight win without a defeat.

AMES 14, FORT DODGE 7

It was the toughest game of the year, and the Little Cyclones proved their mettle to more than 4,500 Homecoming fans when they roared from behind to defeat the high-flying Dodgers, 14-7. Ames' first TD came on a 23 yard Milliken-Spangler pass with 15 seconds left in the first half. Then, after the rugged Dodger line had stopped Ames cold on 3 running plays, inches from paydirt in the 4th quarter, Milliken tossed a one inch pass to Maney to ice the contest.

AMES 25, BOONE 0

The Little Cyclones crowned a glorious season by exploding in the second half to trounce the Boone Treadors, 25-0, in the annual battle for the "Little Green Jug." Long runs by Fowler and Allen, brilliant passing by Milliken, and the rugged play of Capt. Bob Spangler and all the rest of the team brought a successful season to its close.

Despite a traditionally rugged schedule, Coach Ron Norman's unpublicized sophomore crew wound up a successful season with a 3-2 won-lost record.

Showing promise of excellent varsity material, the sophs defeated the Story City varsity, the Webster City varsity reserves, and the Boone sophomores. Losses were to the Marshalltown and the Webster City varsity reserves.

AMES 26, STORY CITY 0
 AMES 7, MARSHALLTOWN 26
 AMES 7, WEBSTER CITY 6
 AMES 7, EAST DES MOINES 13
 AMES 31, BOONE 6

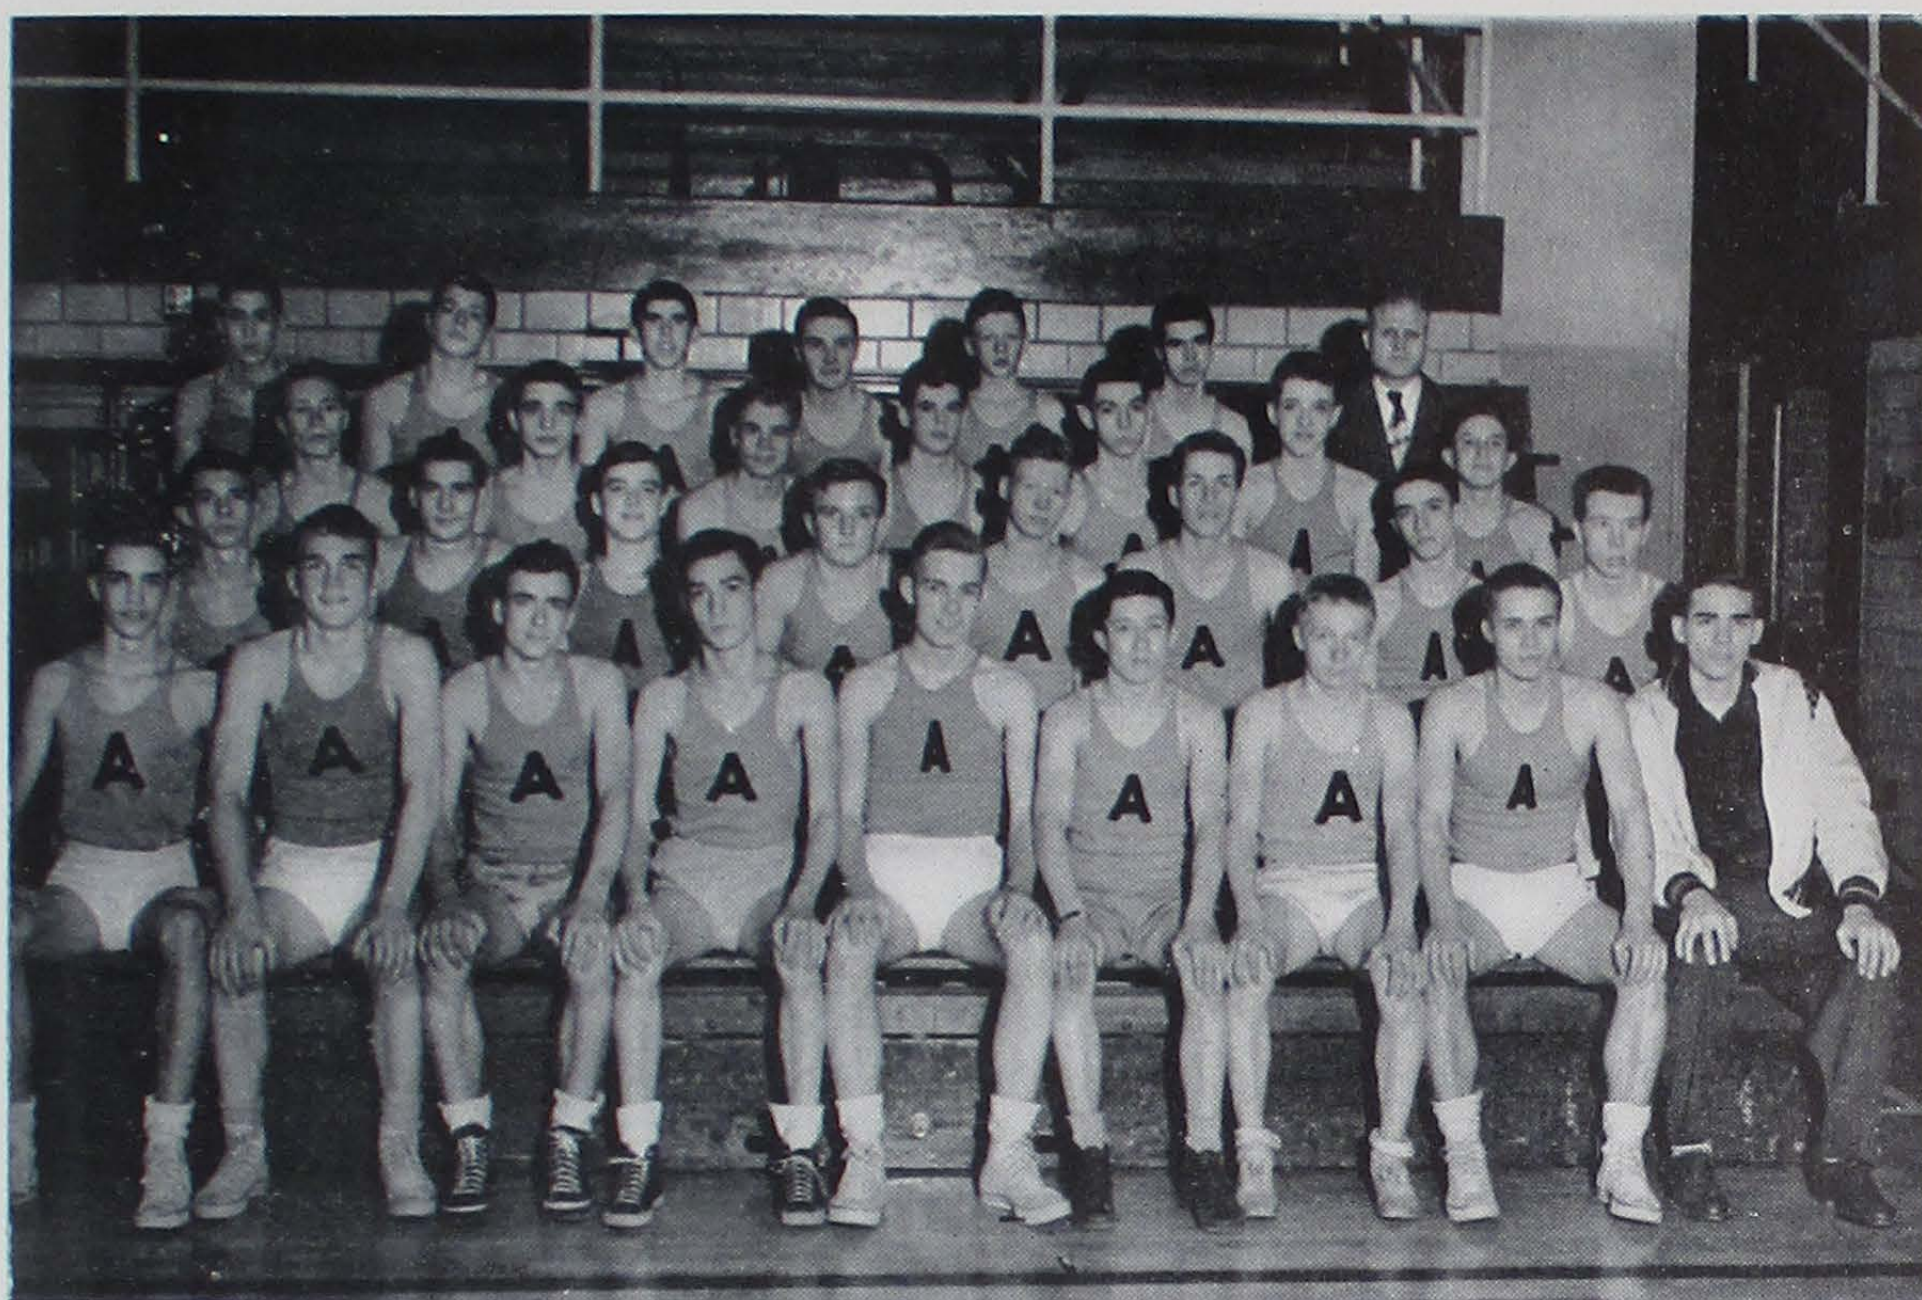

The lot of a sophomore football player is a hard but rewarding one. The season begins as soon as school starts in September, and 20 or 30 boys trudge down to the fieldhouse to start practice.

The top choice of equipment goes to the varsity, but there is usually enough good equipment left over for the sophs. The sophs practice from 4-6 after school, so as not to conflict with the varsity practice schedule.

Since much of the season is spent in learning fundamentals and acquiring techniques for future varsity play, the sophs do not play a full game schedule. However, 5 or 6 games are usually played, some of them with reserve teams. Under the coaching of Ron Norman, and with the assistance of Harold Shugart, the sophomores displayed a brand of football well worth watching in the years to come.

D. Paulson, S. Elwell, K. Brown, Mr. Hartt, A. Peterson, Bourne, K. Paulson

Five reserve track meets were held this year, two with Boone, two with Des Moines, and the annual reserve meet with Newton. Many sophomores and juniors gained valuable experience.

With Keith Paulson, junior, the only returning letterman, Coach Don Hartt's tennis squad looked forward to a rugged season. Last year's other letterwinner, Dick Hall, moved to Rock Island, Illinois.

The tennis schedule included dual meets with Fort Dodge, Roosevelt and East of Des Moines. The Grinnell Invitational meet and the state tournament rounded out the season.

Varsity Basketball

TOP: Kurtz, Begg, Emmerson, Lackore, Allen, Varland. SECOND: Ron Norman, Ahart, Piper, Stuber, Webber, Harris, Harlan. FRONT: Galligan, Milliken, Fowler, Spangler, Brayton.

Enjoying the first season in five years at Ames High, the 1950-51 Little Cyclones basketball team won 12 games and lost only five in regular season play against some of the top teams in the state.

In CIC competition, Ames grabbed second place with a seven wins and three lost record. Two losses to Grinnell and one to Oskaloosa were the only setbacks in conference play.

The Little Cyclones opened fast, winning six out of the first seven games. After a midseason slump, Coach Ron Norman's charges roared back to win six of their first eight games. At the coaching clinic in December they topped Davenport in two quarters, 30-29.

Dick Fowler with 182 points, and Don Webber with 162 points, led the scoring parade. Other high scores were Dave Varland 111, Irwin Milliken 104, Jim Allen 92, Bob Spangler 91, and Bob Brayton 90. Everyone on the squad scored at least once.

Eleven boys earned their letters this year. They were Bob Brayton, Dick Fowler, Jim Allen, Red Milliken, Bob Spangler, Don Weber, Dave Varland, Gene Lackore, Jim Galligan, Dick Harris, and Dick Stuber.

At the close of the season, the squad elected Bob Brayton as this year's captain. Bob's aggressive spirit and ability won him the award.

The Little Cyclones started tournament play by trouncing Boone for the third straight time, 44-31, in the district meet. In the sub-state competition with Sioux City Central, Ames' terrific fourth quarter rally fell short 40-38, ringing down the curtain on a successful season.

Hard work and determination paid off as the sophomore eagers ground through a tough season. Showing flashes of greatness, but victims of a late-season let-down, the sophs wound up with an 8-8 won-lost season's record.

In non-conference play, the future Little Cyclones downed Webster City, Ankeny, and Nevada. Their losses were to Mason City, Roosevelt, and Collins.

The sophs finished third in conference play by splitting even in 10 games. They won two from Boone, lost two to Marshalltown, and split their remaining games with Newton, Oskaloosa, and Grinnell.

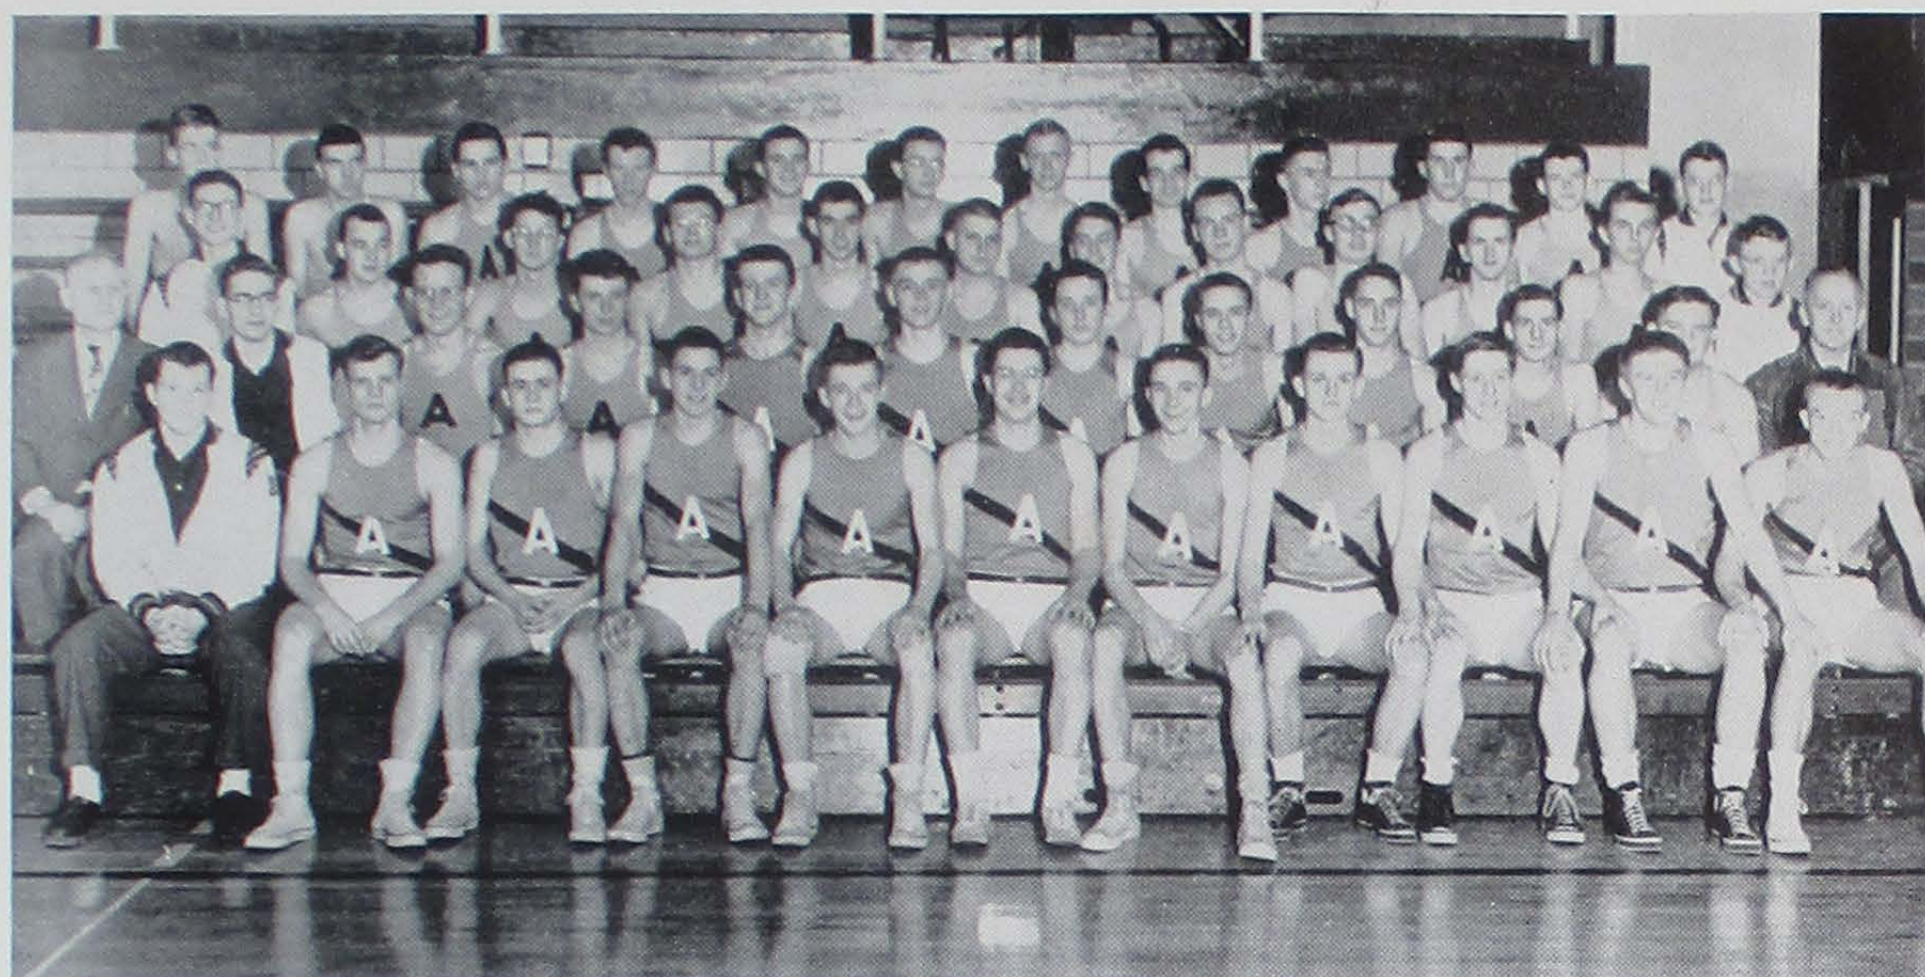

Bill Houk, with 210 points, and Jim Barger, with 140 points, paced the sophomore scorers. The sophs, under the expert tutorage of Coach Hi Covey, average 38 points to their opponents 35.

The schedule this year included a contest with Collins, a district meet qualifier, and several post season reserve games.

The soph's game schedule:

Ames	44-36	Webster City
Ames	35-34	Newton
Ames	42-30	Ankeny
Ames	39-39	Marshalltown
Ames	43-28	Grinnell

With the end of the basketball season, Ames High athletes turned their thoughts to flying feet and cinder tracks. Thirty trackmen had worked out during the winter, and this number had swelled to more than 80 by April. At the end of the season, the trackmen chose Dick Fowler and John Maney as the co-captains of the track squad.

Strengthening the squad considerably were the return of 11 lettermen from last year's team which finished second in state finals. These included Jim Allen, Art Barnes, Ben Buck, Dick Fowler, Jim Galligan, John Maney, Irwin Milliken, Dick Peterson, Nick Piper, Dick Stuber, and Charles Thorburn.

Working out in the men's gym at the college until the weather was nice enough to go outside, the boys were able to continue practice.

The squad faced a rough schedule. The AAU Meet was first; then came the State Indoor, Valley Relays, State Teachers Relays, Drake Relays, and the Little Cyclone Invitational. Next came the district meet at Fort Dodge; next they defended their crown at the conference meet at Grinnell; and finally finished with the climax at the state finals.

An extensive reserve program was also carried out. Dual meets with Boone and Newton reserves, and two meets with reserves from the Des Moines schools were held for those boys who did not see action with the varsity.

Ames could not remain one of the top schools in track and field sports without the expert guidance of Coach Ili Covey and his assistant, Ken Wells. Our hats go off to them for the fine work they have done and will continue to do.

The boy's intramural program attracted a bumper crop of ardent athletes during the year who were not out for varsity sports. Practically every Ames High boy took part in one of the 19 programs offered.

Basketball was again the most popular sport. In the senior league 238 and 110 tied at the end of the season, with 238 copping the title in the playoff. Bill Sumberg was the top senior scorer with 101 points.

Homeroom 234 was the junior winner, with Don Johnson the top scorer with 75 points. In the sophomore league, 211 won the championship. George Allen paced the sophomore scorers with 72 points.

The climax of the basketball season came in the All-Star games. For the first time in 17 years, the senior All-Stars pasted the faculty All-Stars 42-37. Elsewhere, the junior and soph reserves downed the junior All-Stars, 19-16, while the soph All-Stars fell to the sophomore reserves, 19-15.

In the fall, 110, 234, and 236 topped their leagues in touch football. Charlie Thorburn carded a 76 in the golf tournament, while Bob Brayton, Aldor Petersen, and Don Paulson won the tennis crowns.

Tug-o-war went to 110, 109, and 208; top scorers in hunting were 232, 113, 111, and 236. Bowling had a big turnout, with John Lily, Bob Kennedy, and Pete Lodden the winners.

Second to basketball in popularity was wrestling. After spirited and rugged competition, 232, 234, and 211 grabbed the crowns in that sport. Volleyball championships went to 110, 138, and 211.

An extensive program was outlined for the spring by sponsor Ray Smalling, who was ably assisted throughout the season by the intramural managers and the intramural council.

Girls' Athletic Association

TOP: Myers, Cole, M. McPherson, Marilyn McPherson, Ryan. THIRD: Miss Robinson, Long, Arney, Litchfield, Prehm, M. Wilson, J. O'Brien. SECOND: Schafroth, Kellogg, Soma, Rothacker, Halden, R. Martin. FRONT: K. Johnston, P. Harper, Jackman, K. Johndreau, Munn, Stoddard, Imsland.

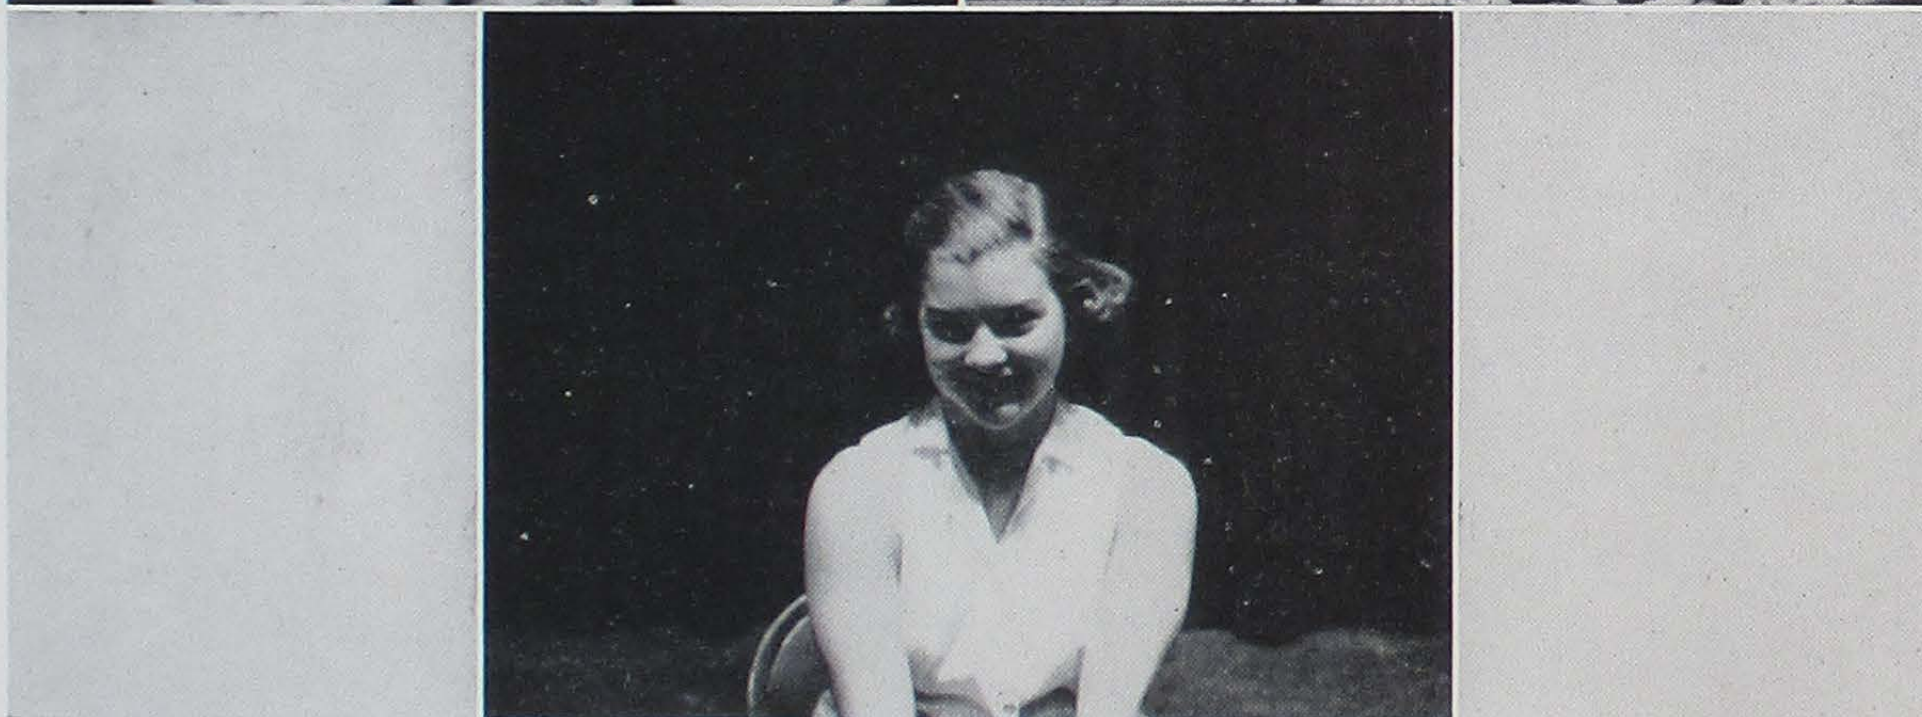

The Girls' Athletic Association again maintained their high code of providing a healthful, well balanced program of sports and games for as many of the girls as possible. Under the supervision of Miss Robinson, the officers, Patty Harper, president; Elizabeth Munn, vice president; Kaye Johndreau, secretary-treasurer; Kay Johnston, intramural chairman; Mary Jean Stoddard, social chairman; Grace Jackman and Jo Imsland, point recorders, and the home room representatives carefully organized and carried out a plan best suited to the needs and desires of the group.

An old practice reinstated this year was the selection of a G.A.A. Girl of the Month. Every two weeks the members chose a girl whom they felt had contributed to the betterment of the organization. Through this nomination a number of girls were given recognition.

Girls who had earned 100 points were brought into the club at a formal initiation held in January. Afterwards they had informal initiation in the cafeteria where the girls participated in relay games. A potluck supper held for the winners of the baseball and badminton singles followed the recreation.

Taking advantage of the muscle-stirring fall weather, the season opened with a softball tournament. However, preferring the gym to the cold, badminton soon became the main attraction. This was followed by a rough and ready basketball round-robin and tournament and then taking advantage of the opportunity for a variety of sports, such things as bowling, ping pong, volleyball and general playnights thrived. Judging by the accompanying pictures, in addition to the many benefits of the program, a good time was had by all.

G.A.A.'s Athletes

Homeroom 109 was the A league basketball winner. They are Berhow, Egemo, Winslow, Holl, Schafroth, Rierson, Alcock, McElyea.

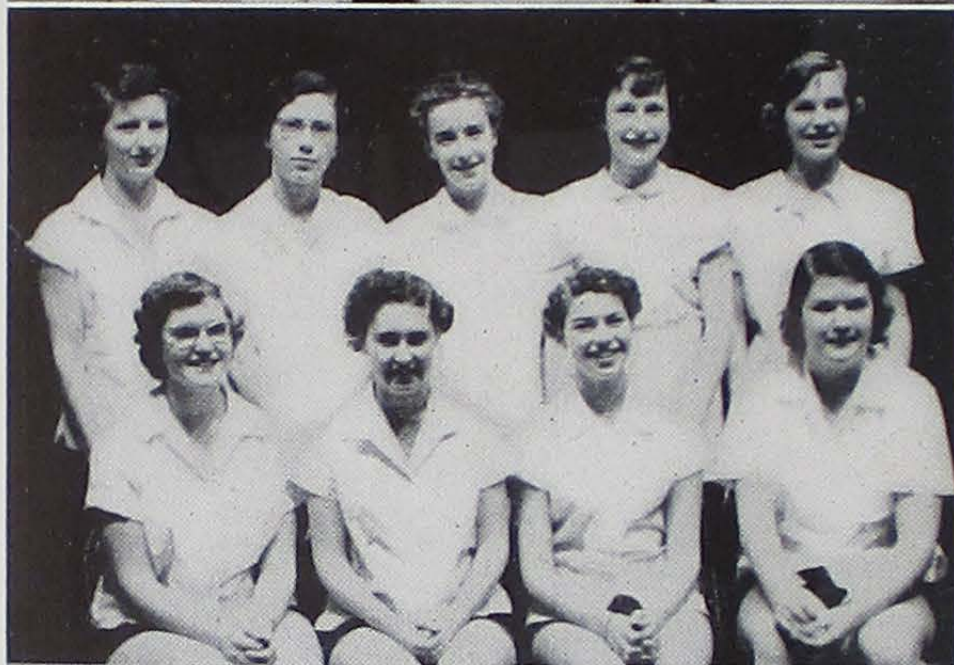

B league runners-up were girls from 238. They are Abbott, Yates, Uthe, Thompson, Rothacker, Jackman, P. Harper.

B league winner was Homeroom 138. They are Lillard, Meldrum, Halden, Fuller, Baker, P. McGuire, P. O'Brien.

Sophomore all-stars are Green, Lamson, Holland, Chase, Crouch, Young, Cole, Williams.

— Golf champion was Liz Young.

More Athletes

Senior all-star baseball team: Highbarger, Alexander, Scheuermann, Litchfield, Rothacker, Braland

A league runner-up was Homeroom 237. They are Scheuermann, Wilson, Uthe, Bruce, Francis.

Basketball champs were Alcock, Stock, P. O'Brien, Willett, Chase, Johndreau, Halden, Cole, Green.

Junior all-stars were Durby, Maywald, Hurlburt, Holl, Meldrum, Alcock, Rierson.

Badminton doubles tournament was won by Meldrum and Stahlman.

Varsity Club consists of those boys who have won that elusive black and orange "A" in athletics. Over 50 boys belonged to the club this year.

The letter-sweater is the mark of a varsity club member. An athlete cannot wear a letter-sweater until he has participated for a prescribed time in one of the varsity sports.

An athlete who wins a letter in a varsity sport receives a colored chevron. An orange chevron denotes a letterwinner in football; the chevron for basketball is green; track is white; golf is red; and tennis is blue. A like-colored star is awarded to the team captain in that sport.

Boys who won their first letter during the football season were initiated into the club by playing a basketball game with the senior girls in Pep Club between halves of the Grinnell-Ames game. Slightly handicapped by sheepskins, boxing gloves, and long underwear, the boys managed to gain a moral victory with a 0-0 tie.

The big club activity in the spring was the annual picnic held at the Homewood Golf Course. Here first year spring letterwinners had the express pleasure of being thrown into the river.

Officers of the club this year were: Dick Fowler, president; Dick Day, vice-president; Richard Harlan, secretary; Jim Galligan, treasurer; and Keith Brown, historian. Kenny Wells was sponsor of the organization.

The Pep club enjoyed a myriad of activities this year. Besides having charge of the half-time entertainment at the football games and the assembly pep skits, the girls made and sold pom-poms and megaphones, and sold tickets on a competitive basis for the season's football and basketball games. The entire Pep club and Cheer squad marched in a city-wide fire prevention parade in the fall of the year. Some of the members ushered at Iowa State home football games and handed out programs at the high school basketball games.

During football season the club journeyed to Newton, where at the half-time, they executed formations with the Marching band. They also chartered busses to Grinnell and Sioux City for basketball games. These trips were made possible by two fund raising bake sales.

The girls also participated in collecting money for the Red Cross Drive at the half of one of the basketball games.

Announcements were made over the sound system telling about forth-coming track meets, tennis and golf matches.

Social activities included the annual pot-luck before the Boone game. The affair was closed with the traditional kissing of the Little Green Jug. A luncheon was held in the spring to elect officers for the following year.

This year's officers were Jody Hall, president; Ruth Davis, vice-president; Connie Moore, secretary; and Jean Murray, treasurer.

The members of Pep club are chosen yearly on the basis of scholastic ability, sportsmanship, pep and energy, and moral and social standards. The club consists of thirty-six girls, 18 seniors, 12 juniors, and 6 sophomores.

Cheersquad

Alcock, Thompson, Talcott, Winslow, Getz, P. Harper

Do you groan and moan when you are asked to be at school at 8 o'clock in the morning? Are you just plain lazy? If you are, you don't belong to the cheersquad. The members of this ambitious group have to spring out of bed early enough to be at school at 7:30. Cheersquad meets three times each week at this early hour.

Monday mornings the group plans the sound system announcement for the game of that week, the pep assembly if they have one, and discusses the previous week's mistakes and problems. Tuesday and Thursday they have regular practice in the gym to take the kinks out of the yells and to work on new ones. The alternates on the squad also come on Tuesday. Friday noon at 12:20 they practice in the auditorium. The signs you see posted up around the school on Friday were probably done by the cheersquad who has charge of making them.

Although no brand new yells have been thought up this year, they have made different routines for some of the old ones. Cyclone whisper, brethren yell, and some chants are a few of the revised yells. The group originated the motions for the school's new pep song. The words were written by R. D. Day, band director.

Certain yells are used more often in one season than another. Chants are used more frequently during the football season while most of the clay yells are used during basketball season.

Cheersquad has much in common with the larger organizations in the school. They have a constitution which tells the purpose of the organization, prescribes the election of members and fines which may be imposed. A member who is late to morning practice is fined and when late to a game, is given the same penalty as a Pep club member.

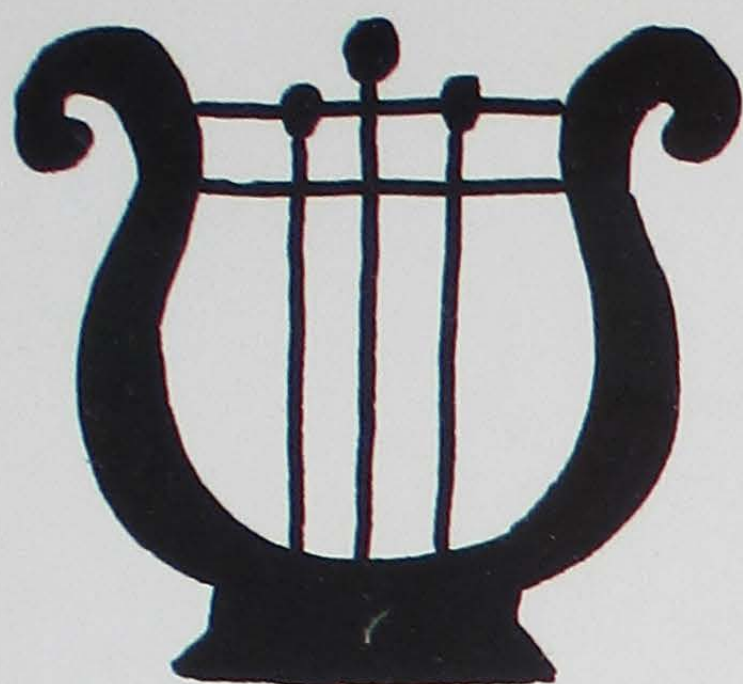

Election of the cheersquad members is carried on in the spring. Junior and sophomore classes elect six members to represent that class and then the student body votes on the final six. Patty Harper, head cheerleader, was elected by the cheersquad in the fall. Her special duties are to contact speakers for the pep assemblies, see Mr. Day about music, and have charge of yells.

Pep Club Fun

The big topic of conversation in November was the mysterious disappearance of the Little Green Jug. This traditional Ames High fixture was discovered missing following the dance after the Ames-Boone football game. Now who would have done a thing like that?

Together Hi-Y and G.R. sponsored Friendship Week, an annual observance of the importance of the spiritual aspects of high school life. This year's speaker and counselor was Rev. Alvin Rogness, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church in Mason City.

G.R. and Hi-Y filled and delivered 85 boxes for the residents of the county home during the Christmas season. Together they planned and carried out a program for Christian Rural Overseas Program and International Christian University, and they sponsored the Newcomers' Party.

Every girl in high school is a member of G.R. At meetings held every other week, the girls heard talks on hair styling, health, youth, Ireland, and Germany.

Monique Martin, a French girl, finds a few more comforts in life because of the financial support and letters sent to her from G.R. members.

Sponsors for G.R. are Miss Edna Wilcox, Miss Ruth Miller, and Miss Charlotte Nelson. Officers were Mary Jane Arnold and Eleanor Rothacker, presidents; Patsy Yates, secretary; Marian Martin, treasurer; and Nancy Getz, assistant treasurer.

Keith Brown, Don Webber, John Nichols, and Jerry Kurtz led the Hi-Y first semester as president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer. Jim Allen, Dick Green, Dave Varland, and Frank Wolf were second semester officers.

The Hi-Y continued aid to its French foster child, Jacque Affréy.

Hi-Y held sophomore, junior, senior, and football firesides, and presented assemblies and hobby groups. Most of the club's money was made by selling concessions at athletic events.

Ames High's "laboratory in democracy," the student council, carries out the ideals and beliefs of the student body.

Each of the 18 homerooms is represented on the council by its president. John Judge was first semester student body president, and Keith Brown was elected for second semester.

The council's eight committees perform many services to the school. Included this year were: supervising noon-hour activities, organizing all-school parties, and assisting with Open House, Friendship Week, and Career Day.

Miss Edna Bower kept her three music groups, the a cappella choir, girls' glee club, and mixed chorus, busy with engagements in the school and community. The musical events of the year were climaxed as Ames was host to the Tri-City Festival on May 1. Newton and Fort Dodge high schools sang with the Ames group under the direction of Mr. Robert McGowan, formerly of Ames, at this event.

The a cappella choir made appearances at the Kiwanis and Lion's clubs of Ames, sang at the Veteran's hospital in Des Moines, and took part in the Christmas pageant and in Friendship Week. Officers this year were Larry Sutter, president; Catherine Schanche, vice-president; Marilyn Knutson, secretary; Bruce Adams, librarian; Pat Hurlburt and Aldor Peterson, robe keepers.

Furnishing the music for a Girl Reserve meeting and for Friendship Week headed the list of programs for the Girls' Glee Club. They also took part in the Christmas pageant and sang with the choir for the two Ames men's clubs. Leading the group this year were Kay Johnston, president; Ann Maywald, vice-president; Shirley Schafroth, secretary; Mary Lou Wilson, librarian; Beth Holl, Phyllis Malander, and Ruth Martin, robe keepers.

Mixed chorus accepted the responsibility of most of the speaking parts and some of the music for the Christmas pageant. For this year the officers were Mary Halden, president; Keith Hayenga, vice-president; Sharon Gore, secretary; and Dean Henry, librarian.

Many small groups were organized at various times to add variety to the programs including two boys' quartets, a girls' triple trio, and a girls' double quartet.

Band activities for Ames High opened in the early fall with the marching band playing for all home football games. A sacred show on a darkened field using hat lights and new electric candles highlighted the home game performances. Another high spot on the marching band's calendar was a trip to Newton and a halftime show with the Newton band.

The Pep Band, with student directors Bob Bourne and Dick Day, played for all home games and tournament games.

Ames High's Concert Band found their time limited in preparation for their annual spring concert. A total of three concerts were given by the band. Soloists appearing on this year's concert series were Pat Hurlburt, pianist; Virginia Kellogg, violinist; and Bob Bourne, cornetist.

Band officers included Marion Talcott, president; Charles Thorburn, vice-president; Joyce Holdridge, secretary-treasurer; John Ahlquist, librarian.

Theatre Orchestra played for the Junior and Senior Class Plays as well as Commencement and baccalaureate.

Concert Orchestra, along with concert band, presented the spring concert April 6 and the assembly program for high school and Central students March 30. The Junior Town Programs concert April 7 and Tri-City Festival April 30 at Newton were highlights in the orchestra's season. Richard Day directed the orchestra.

The string orchestra played for the Drama Club Play and a concert on May 8. They were directed by Jean Miller.

Orchestra officers are Dick Day, president; Virginia Kellogg, vice-president; Norma Hedrick, secretary-treasurer; and Marcia Barnard, librarian.

There are many small groups in music besides just orchestra and band. One group stemming from orchestra was string ensemble. This group, under the direction of Miss Jean Miller, met every Thursday morning at 7:30. The members of the ensemble were Patsy Yates, first violin; Elaine Elwell, second violin; Kay Johnston, cello; and Norma Hedrick, viola.

Another group was the string orchestra. This group, which practiced every Monday morning, played for the annual spring concert.

From the band came the organization of the woodwind trio composed of Mary Kay Schwarte, flute; Sue Wymore, oboe; and Carla Lechner, clarinet. They played for many groups during the year.

Bob Bourne, Jerry Kurtz, Terry Rust, and Don Orterman made up the trumpet quartet which played during the year for different events.

Playing under the direction of Miss Jean Miller, the string quartet consisted of Patsy Yates, first violin, Elaine Elwell, second violin, Kay Johnston, cello, and Norma Hedrick, viola.

" $E=Mc^2$," a play depicting the past, present, and future of the atomic bomb, by Hallie Flanagan Davis, was the Drama Clubs fall production. With a cast of over 80 people, both beginning and advanced groups worked together to integrate movies, modern dances and dramatization. The five main characters were Bob Lee, Margot Miller, Jerry Johnson, Gordon Shepherd, and Marcia McGuire.

The juniors averaged ten murders daily while working on their production And There Were None by Agatha Christie. Adapted from the stage play Ten Little Indians, it required that all actors learn and use the English accent. Parts were played by the following people: Mary Loue Wilson, Bob Lee, David Walkup, Jerry Johnson, Francis Judge, David Taft, Jean Murray, Nancy Winslow, Lyle Henry, Jim Mullica, and Bob Peters.

The Druid Circle, romantic comedy by John Van Druten, was presented by the senior class in April. The cast included: Gordon Shepherd, Richard Harlan, Bob Spangler, Margot Miller, Mary Jane Arnold, Grace Jackman, Joan Stock, Beverly Scherumann, Jody Wilson, Marian Martin, John Judge and Dick Day.

The beginning dramatics clubs concentrated on learning tips for acting, theater history, and how to build stage sets. In addition to helping on major productions, they presented a series of one-act plays in April.

Business manager for the combined drama clubs was Colleen Blaney.

The Palm, a national honorary dramatics award, was presented to Mary Alden, Mary Jane Arnold, Sue Brown, Jim Englehorn, Mary Jo Highbarger, Francis Judge, Barbara Hyler, Margot Miller, Bob Peters, Lois Ann Robertson, Elizabeth Seaman, Janet Shake, Judy Wilson, Millie Willet, and Sandra McFarland.

Lawd, Does Yah Undahstan? by Ann Seymore was featured in an assembly for the students.

dents in this presentation were sophomores George Allen, Norman Kjerland, Bill Duffy, and Jack Anderson.

In addition, the advanced classes also produced several radio plays.

For each minute a Firesquad member is late to his post or late to a meeting, he is fined one cent. This is allowed to accumulate until the end of the year. The money is then used to finance a grandious picnic. Our "defenders of justice" and their dates this year consumed many cases of pop, dozens of weiners and buns, two gigantic pots of beans and a dishpan of potato salad. Appetites for the gala event were worked up at a softball game and other activities.

Highlights of the evening was the traditional dunking of the Fire Chiefs. First semester chief, Dick Day, was selected to be the first victim. John Nichols, second semester chief, was honored immediately afterward.

When the "Orange and Black badge boys" aren't engaged in picnicing, they spend their time passing out little red cards, more commonly known as warnings. At meetings conducted every Thursday noon, they develop new and better methods of catching offenders. Members are also called upon to maintain order at fire drills.

There are 39 members in Firesquad, 13 from each class. These members are selected by the principals of the junior high schools when they become sophomores.

The juniors and sophomores are stationed at posts where they search out breechers of the peace. The seniors have no definite post but may take names at any time or place during school.

The motto of this stellar organization is: Justice through warnings.

Student Treasurers

TOP: Murray, Rouze, Kurtz, Roberson, G. Shepherd, Johndreau. SECOND: M. Knutson, M. Martin, Moore, Getz, Seversike. FRONT: S. Baker, M. Barnard, J. Holdredge, Blayney.

Assistants to Mr. Hartt, athletic treasurer, and Miss McNally, general treasurer, were Jon Roberson and Marilyn Seversike.

The success of Ames High's financial system is due largely to the hard work of the student treasurers. Each extra-curricular and class organization has one of these trusty souls who keeps track of the money for his activity.

When an organization needs to pay out money, the student treasurer fills out a requisition for the amount, has his sponsor sign it, and gets Principal Herbert Adams' signature. The treasurer then takes it to Miss Mary McNally, general treasurer, who writes the check for the amount required. The last chore is seeing that the check is delivered.

Recognition should be given to the hard work put in by Marilyn Seversike, Miss McNally's assistant, and Jon Roberson, who assisted Mr. Don Hartt as athletic treasurer.

Spirit Staff

The SPIRIT editorial staff

Dick Day, Norma Hedrick and Sue LaGrange

The SPIRIT staff was made up of a few editors, but also essential were the many people who contributed time and work to help make the yearbook possible.

This year's staff met in Mr. Trump's, the sponsor, room to plan the order of the book, make schedules for taking pictures, write copy, and read proofs.

After selecting a cover, work was started on the body of the book. During this time the advertising manager, Pat Harper, had her advertising staff do selling of ads to the merchants of Ames.

Also at work was the copy staff who had to track down and write about all the different organizations. This staff was headed by Gordon Shepherd and Nancy Stahlman.

Bob Lee, photography editor, saw to it that pictures were taken of the activities going on around the school. His able assistants and the actual photographers were Phil Arthur and Fred Allen.

The staff learned how to paste up pictures for the engravers, write copy for certain spaces, reduce pictures in size and plan interesting layouts.

All this work was carried on to make possible another printing of the yearbook, the SPIRIT.

Those helping Pat with the work were Dick Culbertson, Millie Willett, Chloe Morris, Marilyn Knutson, Liz Seaman, Delores Fisher, Carol Hohenshell, Barbara Hyler, Grace Jackman, Eloise Hansen, Pat McGuire, Kaye Johndreau, Sue Brown, and Pat Hurlburt.

Different this year were the division pages. Drawn by Marian Martin and her crew, Catherine Grant and Mary Jean Stoddard, the figures were from the Ames High emblem to represent different divisions.

The tough job of handling the books and making the numerals stay in black ink was held by Don Rouze, business manager. He and his staff, Diana Alcock and Jerry Kurtz, assistants, Mary Harper, Margot Miller, Marcia McGuire and Liz Munn, had charge of selling the yearbooks at the beginning of the year and collecting the money.

A big highlight of the year was the SPIRIT dance. The publicity committee, Nancy Winslow, Claire Thomas and Barbara Egemo, was the general planning committee.

To "be accurate, be accurate, be accurate" was the aim of all journalism students who edited and reported for the Web. This advice and other fundamental dos and don'ts were explained by Miss Charlotte Nelson, faculty advisor, who teaches the art of journalistic writing.

The class worked on a two staff basis, alternating each week. Assignments were made on Tuesdays. Wednesdays and Thursdays were devoted to class exercises, and stories were written and typed Fridays and Mondays. After copy was checked and headlined the make-up was completed. Wednesday morning proof reading was done and the finished product appeared that evening in the Tribune.

Norma Hedrick and Margot Miller, feature editors; John Nichols and Marion Talcott, sports editors; Phyllis Malander and Bud Howell, copy editors; and Patty Harper and Pauline Martin, exchange editors.

Cub's Club, Ames High School's journalism organization, is open to all students who are interested in the field of journalism and are not yet members of the regular journalism class offered to seniors only.

Meetings every Monday introduce the Cub to the principles of journalism and teach him how to use these basic principles in actual practice. After writing several pieces for the Web, the major task of the year is undertaken. Cubs write and edit the first Web of the second semester. Each Cub is responsible for one and maybe two stories for this weekly news sheet. Those students who satisfactorily complete their assignments for this issue are given the opportunity to write for the regular Web and the SPIRIT.

Under the guidance of Miss Charlotte Nelson, journalism instructor, Cubs learn briefly about newspaper writing and the basic principles involved and are ready to sign up for journalism in their senior year, if they are interested.

Ames High finds many activities for students talented in journalism. This year, for example, the student council undertook the complete revision of the "little black handbook." This job was entrusted largely to students who had gained some of their original journalistic experience as Cubs.

SECOND: Rothacker, M. Knutson, J. Wilson, Klein, A. Stacy, M. Harper. FRONT: Carr, Lawlor, R. Dunlap, Fritz, Singer.

Activities of the '50-'51 Ames High Junior Red Cross council started with an enrollment drive held in October. At Christmas-time 10 boxes of presents for 10 girls in a convent at Sioux Falls, South Dakota were bought, wrapped and sent by the council. Also at Christmas, tray covers, tray favors and nutcups were made and sent to the Children's Hospital in Iowa City.

The Veterans' Hospital in Des Moines received St. Patrick's Day menu covers, designed in a high school art class and printed under the sponsorship of the Red Cross. The Easter program of sacred music presented by the a cappella choir on Good Friday was also a Red Cross sponsored project.

Instead of the usual gift boxes Ames High sent a school chest to a school in Europe with enough supplies for the school for a year. A school album was donated to the international correspondence program.

A new activity was the old record drive held to gather records to give to the boys and girls in the state training schools at Eldora and Mitchellville. Entertaining 20 senior boys and girls from Duluth, Minnesota was one of the social highlights of the council's activities.

Sponsored by Mrs. Elizabeth Dickinson, this group was headed by Jane Gaskill and Judy Wilson, co-presidents, and Marcia McGuire, secretary.

Library club, also under the direction of Mrs. Dickinson, helped with the checking of books in the library and the girls received training in library work.

Film Operators club took care of any visual aids or recordings needed by the school. Mr. Page was the sponsor of this club.

TOP: A. Peterson, Roberson, Mr. Paul, G. Shepherd, J. Judge. FRONT: S. Brown, Fritz, Hurlburt.

Representing the speech and political factions of Ames High, the debate squad had a busy time this year setting forth their ideas on the question—Resolved: That the American people should reject the Welfare State. Under the guidance of Coach Al Paul, the group spent many hours hashing and rehashing the problems of government, political science, and other questions of interest to debaters.

Starting off the tournament season with a trip to the Brindley Discussion and Debate at Cedar Falls, the varsity squad of Fred Walker and Jon Roberson, affirmative, and Pat Hurlburt and John Judge, negative, ranked first in debates won. Jon Roberson also received the highest individual rating entitling him to a scholarship to Iowa State Teachers College.

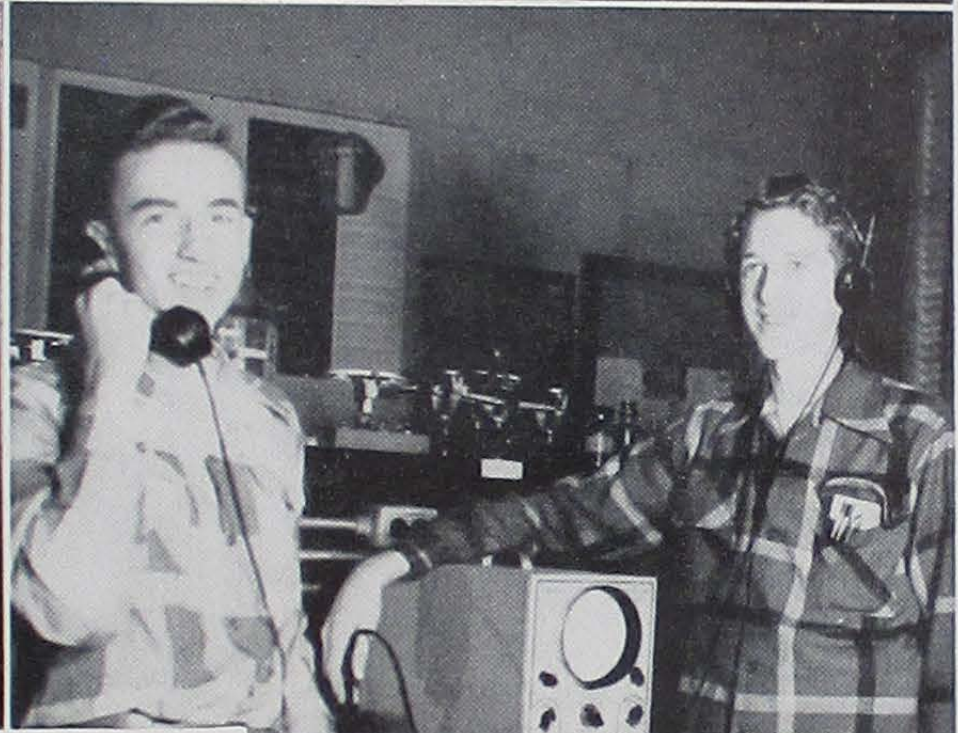

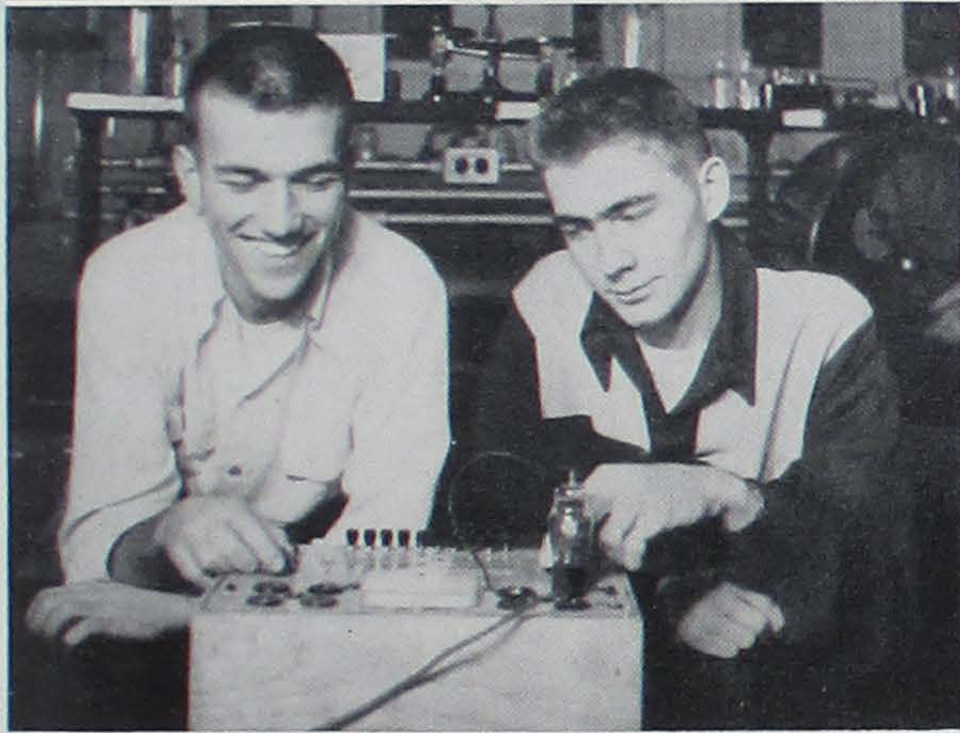

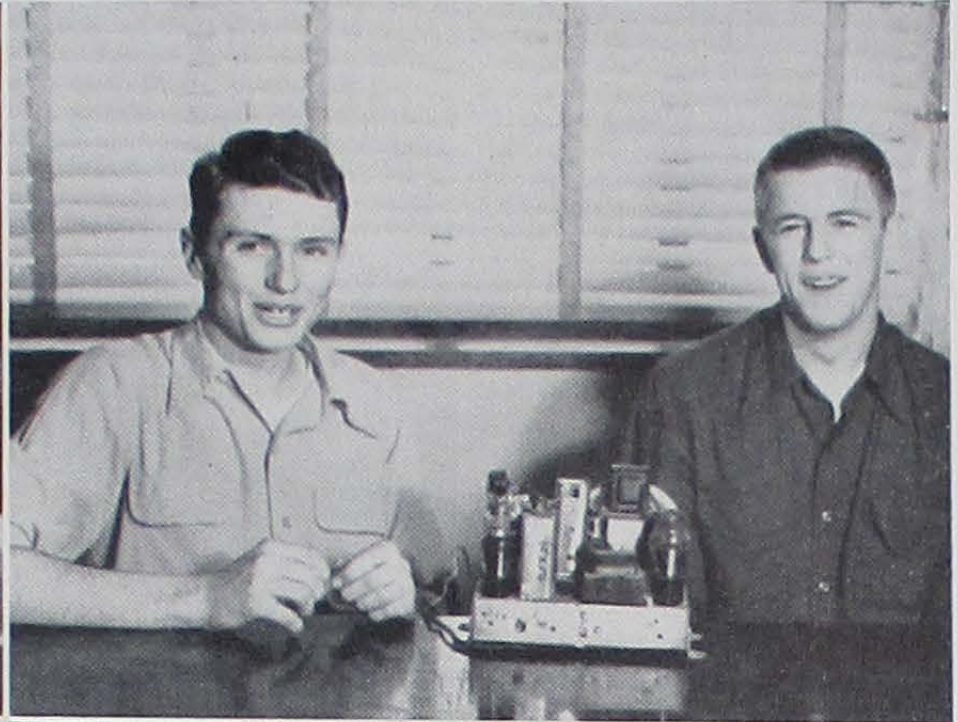

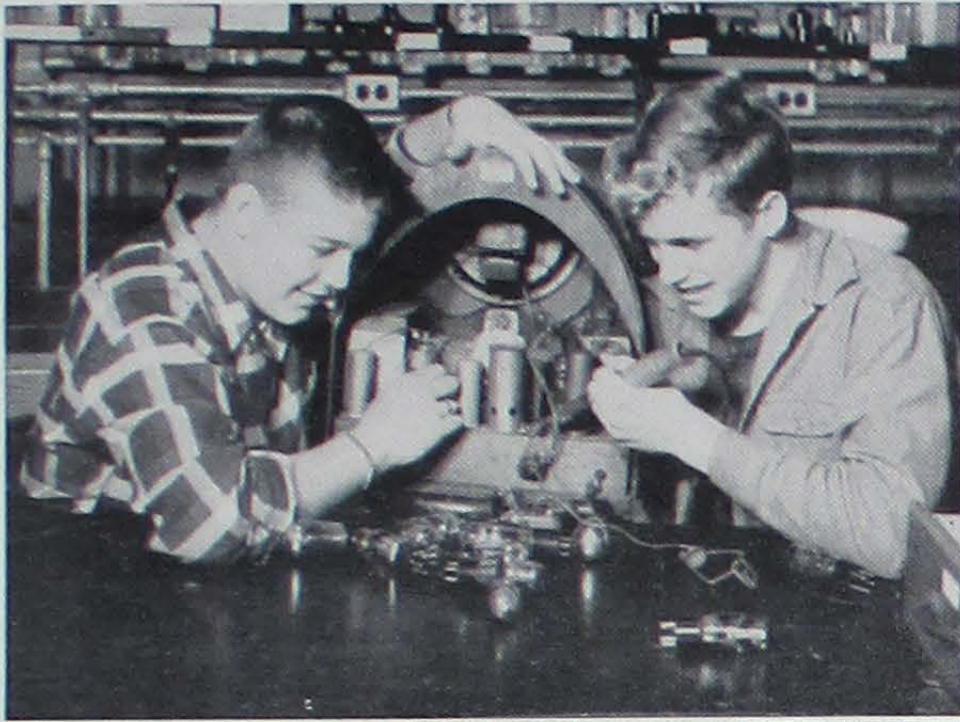

The next tournament was the district meet at Oelwein where the towns of northeastern Iowa vied for a place to the state finals. Here again Ames was first with a record of eight wins and no losses.

The final trip of the season was to the state tournament at Iowa City. Here the squad debated the other district winners and participated in Student Senate, a body patterned after the United States Senate. Coming home with honors were John Judge with a superior in debate, Fred Walker and Pat Hurlburt with excellents in debate, and Jon Roberson with an excellent as a senator of the Student Senate.

The varsity debate squad—Fred Walker, Jon Roberson, John Judge, Pat Hurlburt.

Radio Club

If it hadn't been for Jim Allen's free taxi service the Ames High Radio Club would probably have accomplished very little this year. The club's major public-service project for the past two years has been to repair and rebuild old and incapacitated radios and donate them to the Mary Greely Hospital for use by the patients there. Jack Anderson, Hal Harris, Dick Harlan and Stan Ellwell did the repair work while Dick Harris, Bill Jackson and Jim Allen made arrangements with the hospital and installed the sets after they were in good working order.

The biggest addition in equipment this year was a 12 inch television kit which has proved equal to a ready-built set. Some other instruments purchased include a vacuum tube volt-ohmmeter for highly accurate resistance and voltage measurements, a signal tracer and a signal generator.

First semester president was Dick Harlan with Stan Ellwell in the office of vice president. Second semester president was Dick Harris with Bill Jackson as vice president, Jack Anderson as secretary and Jim Triplett filling the position of treasurer.

Cafeteria Staff

TOP: Brown, Kennedy, Sands, Harlan, Brayton, Maney. SECOND: Sass, Mrs. Warren, Mrs. Marsh, Getz, Merchant. FRONT: Miss Galster, Yates, Hyler.

The cafeteria staff had a large and usually thankless job. Early each noon the students who worked in the cafeteria were let out early so they would be ready to go to work while others ate.

These students assisted Miss Galster, cafeteria sponsor, in making the noon meal possible. Their chores included preparing some of the food, carrying meals to the faculty, serving at the counters, and, last but not least, washing dishes.

Some of the people who helped but were not known to a lot of people were Ronnie Kooser, who scrubbed and cleaned up after the noon hour was over, and Opal Durby who put up the menu each day.

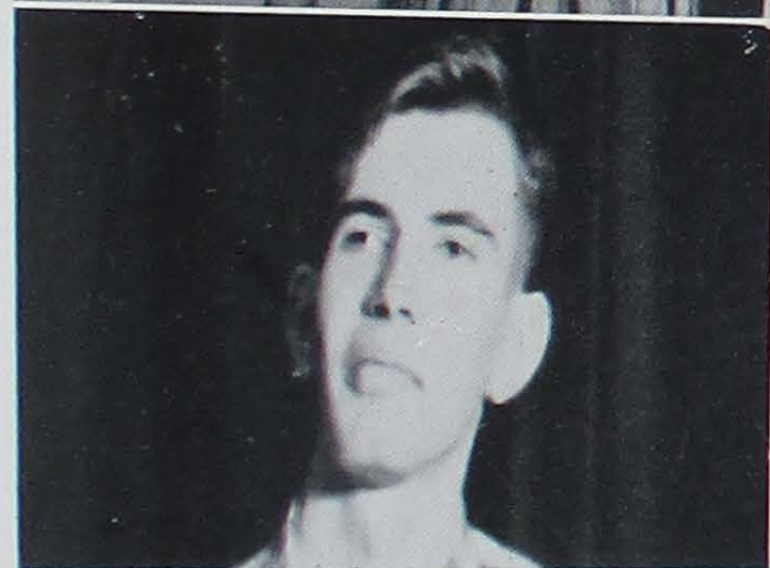

Besides the regular workers in the cafeteria, college girls received training at the high school by helping with the lunches and the serving of them.

This year a new system of having the students enter the cafeteria by two's was tried. Instead of letting people rush to the line every day, the students lined up two abreast down the middle of the east hall. The students then entered the cafeteria by two's until the usual rush was past. This helped to avoid a lot of confusion and proved to be very satisfactory. The student council worked with Miss Galster to develop this system.

The cashiers this year were Patsy Yates, Nancy Merchant, and Nancy Getz who did a fine job with the handling of the money.

It wasn't all work and no play for the cafeteria staff, but Ames High could not get along without the fine workers who, under the able supervision of Miss Galster, help make the noon hours run smoothly.

Homecoming

Homecoming Queen Miss Mary Jo Highbarger is happy about something.

A tough battle but we won 14-7 over the Ft. Dodge Dodgers.

Finalists: Moore, Getz, Hedrick, Pierre, Highbarger, Malander, Hall, P. Harper, Arnold, M. Harper.

The two happy attendants are Miss Jody Hall and Miss Mary Jane Arnold.

Ames High's second annual Homecoming proved to be a big success. The 1950 affair was held on October 27, and included a Homecoming queen, a thrilling football game, a gala party, and a big parade and pep rally.

During the week previous to Homecoming, elections were carried out for the queen. An all-school election resulted in the naming of 10 girls as finalists. The queen and her two attendants were then chosen from this list by Al Rockwell, popular Des Moines radio disk jockey. Reigning as Homecoming queen was Miss Mary Jo Highbarger. Her two attendants were Miss Jody Hall and Miss Mary Jane Arnold. They were presented before the football game, and again during the dance.

Following school on Friday there was a Homecoming parade to the City Hall with the queen and her attendants riding in place of honor. A speech was given by Mayor Allen, and a pep rally was held.

Over 4,000 fans came to the high school stadium to watch the Little Cyclones trounce the Fort Dodge Dodgers, 14-7. In the finest game of the season, Ames punched over a second-half tally to defeat one of the state's top teams, which thrilled the huge crowd.

The high school study hall was the scene of the Homecoming dance following the game. Invited to the party were all Ames High students, faculty, and especially alumni. Marked by traditional Ames High fun and hospitality, the dance was a fitting climax to a highly successful 1950 Homecoming.

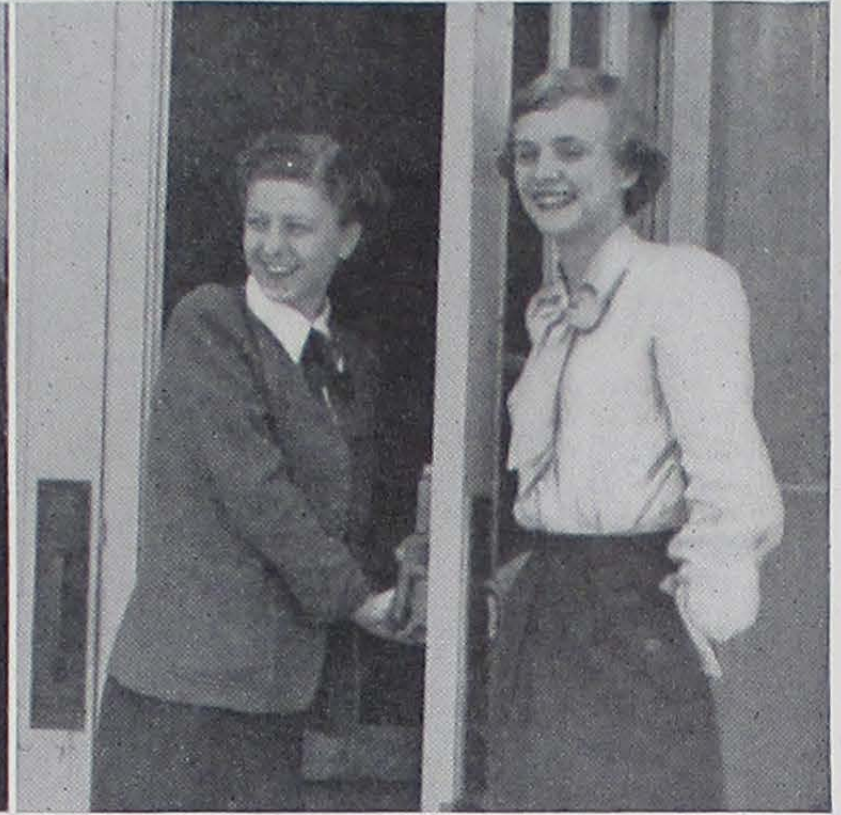

Spirit Sweetheart

Candidates and Attendants

TOP: Pierre, Hedrick, Arnold. SECOND: Teagarden, Moore, P. Harper. BOTTOM: M. Harper, Malander, Getz.

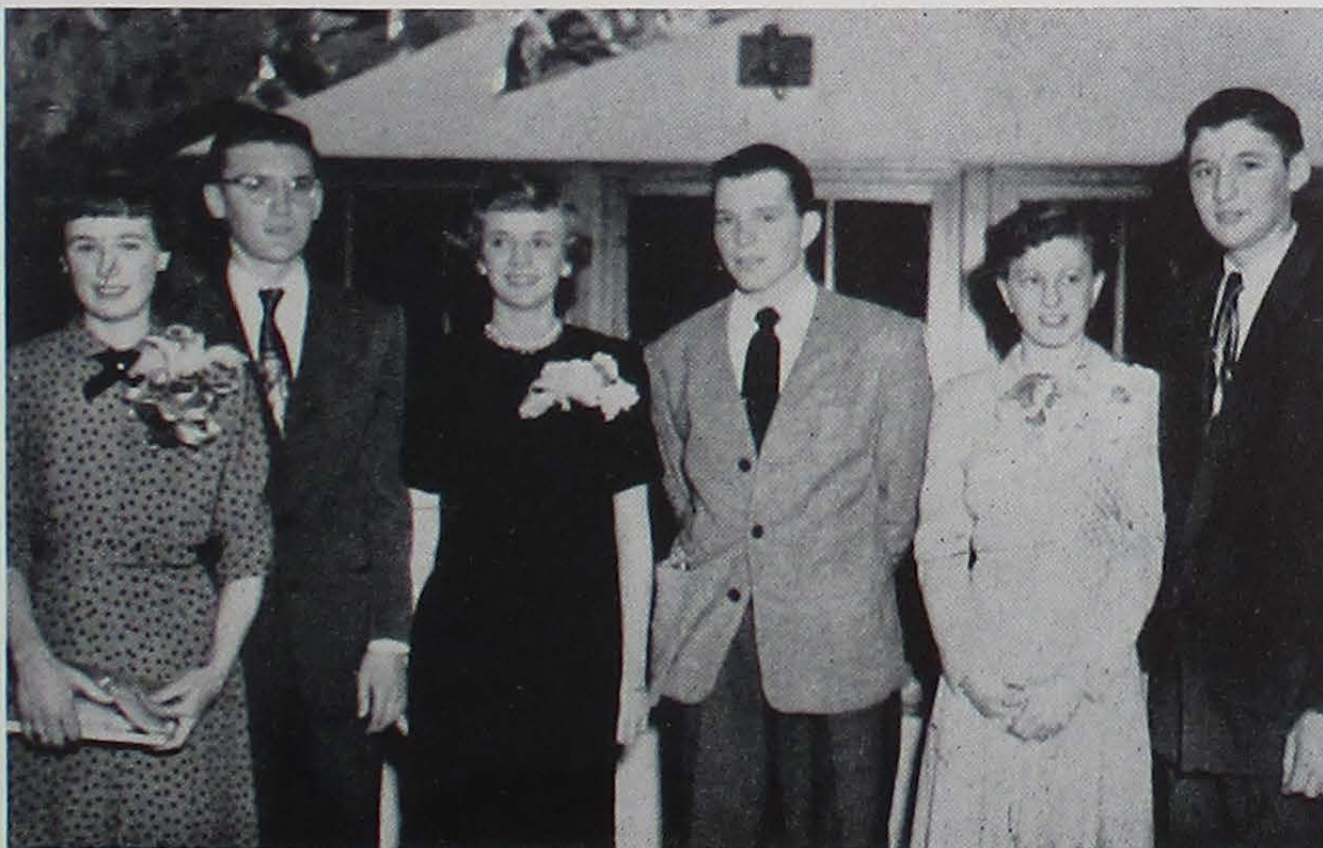

Attendants Anita Teagarden and Jody Hall

The annual midyear Spirit dance was held on January 18 in the study hall. The theme this year was "Modern Innovations." Third dimensional designs were put around on the walls. They were constructed from paper to straws or ballons. One center of interest was a caricature of a keyboard and hands; another was of a couple.

Posters advertising the dance were the background for the pictures taken of couples by the staff in Mr. Norman's room.

The big highlight of the evening was the announcement of Miss Connie Moore as Spirit Sweetheart by John Judge, student body president. Her attendants were Miss Jody Hall and Miss Anita Teagarden. The attendants were presented with carnation corsages and Connie was presented with an orchid.
